'Father Mao' Outvoted 49-1 By Prisoners

Anti-Red Men Object To Being Interviewed By Communist Aides

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Balking Chinese prisoners dealt the Communists a stinging propaganda blow today by rejecting 49-1 the first Red attempts to coax them home.

All but 10 of 500 Chinese who met Communist interviewers in the first clamorous explanation sessions chose continued captivity over repatriation to Red China, said the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

The Reds had claimed the 22,400 unrepatriated Chinese and North Koreans were being held against their will.

This long-delayed psychological phase of the armistice began only after Indian custodian troops pried the wildly demonstrating Chinese from their compounds with threats of force. The Indian commander said later, "we used patience, persuasion and firmness."

Many POWs shouted and sang in the faces of the three-man Red interview teams. Indian guards with sticks had to restrain some. A few danced defiantly on the wooden tent floors.

AT FIRST, the NNRC forced the prisoners to listen to the explanations for five minutes, but this was cut to one minute after a U. N. representative protested.

The explainers reminded them of their homes and family and told them "Father Mao (Red Chinese Premier Mao Tse-tung) wants you back."

Many POWs replied with obscenities.

Then, except for the 10, they chose to leave by a door which meant continued captivity until their fate is decided by the impending political conference or they are released Jan. 22.

The 10 who chose the door to Communism were returned to the Reds in Panmunjom.

After defying two Indian ultimatums, the first 200 rock-throwing, bugle-blowing, anti-Red Chinese finally submitted to Communist interviews. The explanations began seven hours behind schedule.

They originally were to have started Sept. 26 but were delayed by wrangling over facilities.

An Indian spokesman said Communist persuasion teams will talk to 1,000 prisoners Friday, including at least 500 North Koreans.

The atmosphere was charged with tension in the opening of this vital psychological phase of the armistice, but there was no violence. Indian guards had to prevent the first prisoner from slipping away as he was taken before the interviewer.

A U. N. interpreter said the Reds told the POW: "You must go back to your home, to your family."

Refusing to face the interviewer, the prisoner answered, "No, I want to go to Formosa."

"Do not be cheated by the U. N.," the Reds argued.

"I have made up my mind," the POW replied.

When the Reds saw they were making no headway, they gave up, the observer said. Then the prisoner was left alone to make his choice between two doors — one to repatriation and Red China, the other back to his compound. He chose the latter.

Farm Loan Shift Being Offered

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has put into action a plan for shifting some farm loans from federal to private banks and thus keeping the Treasury away from the legal debt ceiling.

The bookkeeping device went into effect yesterday when the Commodity Credit Corp. announced it was offering to private banks $360 million of its price support loans at an attractive 2½ per cent interest rate. The CCC is the Agriculture Department agency which handles price support loans.

It appeared possible that the interest rate, combined with other terms, might attract more than enough subscriptions to cover the amount of loans offered for sale.

Churchill Writings Win Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill today was awarded the 1953 Nobel Literature Prize for his brilliant historical writings.

The famed British war leader thus became the first maker of history to receive a Nobel Prize for reporting it. The $33,840 award was announced by the Swedish Academy. Churchill was chosen winner from a field of 25 candidates, including American writers Ernest Hemingway and Carl Sandburg.

Victory-Flushed Dems Aiming At Elections In California

WASHINGTON (AP)—Flushed by victory in Wisconsin, Democrats trained their campaign guns today on a special congressional election in California Nov. 10.

And some Republicans, stunned by Tuesday's reversal that saw a Wisconsin House seat go to the Democrats for the first time in history, talked of calling on the White House for help.

The California election is for the House seat vacated when Republican Norris Poulson resigned to become mayor of Los Angeles. It's in a district that in recent years has been normally Republican but has swung to the Democrats from time to time. Two Republicans and two Democrats are contesting.

"We have better than an even chance to win it," said one Democratic strategist, asking not to be named. "Our chances there appear to be better than they were in Wisconsin, where we hoped to make a

Gambling Data Being Sought In Print Shops

CANTON (AP)—Police hoped today to get their hands on records of two print shops whose operators have been charged with possessing gambling devices. Safety Director Stanley A. Cimich said the records should give addresses of customers throughout the country.

A raid yesterday by 16 policemen at the National Manufacturers, Inc., led to the arrest of Ormond Eugene Shaffer, 36, whom police listed as president and general manager of the concern. Cimich said many types of gambling lottery tickets were produced at the manufacturers plant, including tickets enabling a bettor to wager on the weather.

Records of the company were not found, however, and a night watch was posted by police to assure nothing would be removed pending a ruling today on a city request for a restraining order.

In another raid, at Silman's Printery, plates used to print football and basketball betting slips for distribution in Akron and Massillon were seized, Police Chief James B. Quilligan said. Thomas Silman, 36, identified as the owner of the company, was arrested.

The Canton raid and one yesterday in Cuyahoga Falls, an Akron suburb, were prompted by tips from U. S. Treasury Department.

In Cuyahoga Falls, plates were confiscated at a print shop, but the owner was not arrested.

Court Upholds Athens Decision

COLUMBUS (AP)—In refusing to review the case, the Ohio Supreme Court yesterday let stand Athens County court decisions denying damages to a passenger hurt while riding to work in an auto.

Bernice Whaley was injured when the car in which she was riding to work at the Athens State Hospital overturned near Millfield April 30, 1949.

She sued Bernice Skinner Coen for damages and testified she paid for her transportation. The lower courts held the payments were voluntary and denied damages.

McCarthy Says German Tips Off Yankees

Senator Claims Details Of Secrets Theft Given To Air Force Aides

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today a German radar scientist who fled a Russian laboratory gave American officials reports of top secret documents stolen from Ft. Monmouth, N. J., and used by Communists.

McCarthy, chairman of the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee, said the scientist will be called by him as a witness.

McCarthy told newsmen the scientist, whom he did not identify, worked in the Russian-controlled Paron laboratory in East Germany and fled to Western Germany more than a year ago.

The scientist gave American Air Force intelligence officers a "detailed story" of the use the Communists were making of the documents, McCarthy said.

He said the scientist still was in West Germany and that the subcommittee would request Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens to assist in having him brought here "as quickly as possible" as a "very necessary witness."

TESTIMONY before the subcommittee that secret radar defense documents had been removed from the Army Signal Corps laboratory at Ft. Monmouth dovetailed with a charge that vital defense data from the base has been channeled to Russia for some time.

Benson Says Future Bright For Farmers Despite Decline

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today the long-term prospects for agriculture are bright despite the current drop in farm prices and income.

And, in remarks before the Future Farmers of America, he said government farm programs are going to be "geared to more realistic production."

Benson made no reference to the possible political effects of the drop in farm prices, which began more than a year ago. Tuesday's Democratic victory in a special House election in Wisconsin has been attributed, in part, to dissatisfaction with Eisenhower administration farm policy.

The secretary said the most pressing problem concerns falling farm prices and income, a decline in foreign markets and excess stocks of some farm products.

The government during the last year has bought heavily in wheat, corn, dairy products and some other commodities in an effort to keep prices up under support programs.

The secretary did not spell out

U. N. Awaits Soviet Move Over Boiling Trieste Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The diplomatic battle to keep a shooting war away from Trieste shifted to U. N. Headquarters today, but Security Council debate on the explosive issue was overshadowed by the impending London talks on the question.

With their foreign ministers meeting in the British capital tomorrow and Saturday, British and American delegates here sat tight and waited to see what tack Russia's Andrei Vishinsky would take before the council late today.

Vishinsky's proposal that the council again try to set up an international administration over both zones of Trieste and give the whole area independence three months later, so far had met with a cold reception from Yugoslavia and Italy, the two claimants to the area.

Vishinsky was expected to lead off the council meeting with an echo of Moscow's earlier charge that the United States and Britain violated the 1947 Italian Peace Treaty by their decision to turn over Trieste's Zone A—occupied by British and American troops — to Italy. The United States and Britain both indicated they would not intervene at once in the council debate.

THERE WAS no advance indication of what part Yugoslavia would play in the debate. It was no secret, however, that the Yugoslavs wanted no part of the Soviet proposal and tried to prevent Vishinsky from entering it.

Yugoslav President Tito already has proposed a conference of the United States, Britain, Italy and Yugoslavia on Trieste.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles was reported openminded toward that suggestion.

He flew to London last night for "save the peace" talks with British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault.

Bookie's Phone Answered By Cop

CINCINNATI (AP)—A man called a Walnut Hills area home and asked "Is it too late for the sixth at Keeneland?"

It was. It was a policeman who answered the phone.

He and other officers were in the process of raiding the home of Charles B. Ryan, 44. They seized betting paraphernalia and charged Ryan with possession of horse race betting and payoff slips and promoting a game of chance.

Officers said nine bettors called during the 25 minutes they were in Ryan's home.

11 Yankees Killed

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—At least 11 Americans are listed among the 44 persons killed in the crash of a big Belgian airliner near here yesterday.

The explosive Trieste situation gave the conference new urgency. The talks were scheduled to open tomorrow and run through Saturday. Trieste undoubtedly was the top item for discussion, but the three ministers had a fistful of other topics.

Prime Minister Churchill arranged to dine with Dulles tonight and meet Bidault separately. The British veteran was expected to press on both his pet project for a top-level, informal conference of himself, President Eisenhower, French Premier Laniel and Soviet Premier Malenkov.

As he left Washington last night,

Dulles expressed hope the London talks would "make some progress" toward easing world tensions.

The three nations' "undeviating objective" he said, is "to seek out, with all of our allies, the basis for a lasting peace."

In addition to Trieste and Churchill's "Big Four" project, the ministers also were expected to give final approval to their new vote inviting Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to meet them in Lugano, Switzerland, Nov. 9 to discuss Germany and Austria, and to study developments on the Korean peace conference.

Hard-Working Farm Boys Set To Hear Talk By President

KANSAS CITY (AP)—President Eisenhower speaks tonight to what is probably the nation's hardest-working group of youngsters. They are the Future Farmers of America whose creed begins:

"I believe in the future of farming, with a faith born not of words but of deeds . . ."

The President, who did considerable work as a youngster himself back in Abilene, Kan., speaks before the Future Farmers' silver anniversary convention.

The FFA, known as the world's largest organization of farm boys, was started in Kansas City in 1928. Now it has more than 350,000 members all over America.

The boys come from places you seldom hear about, like Marked Tree, Ark.; Churchillville, N. Y.; Jones, La.; Farmington, Ill., and Corning, Calif.

BUT THEY ALL know hard work, and many of them know success in their teens.

Take Stanley Alton Chapman.

His father died when he was 13. The father left a 155-acre farm near Monroe, Wash. The pasture land was poor and the farm in general was rather run down.

Now Stanley and his mother have a well-improved farm with almost 100 milk cows. He figures the value of his share in land, machinery and other assets at $88,604. Stan is only 20.

Then there are boys like 19-year-old Rollin D. Blossy of Williamsport, Mich.

More Farmers Urge Support Continuance

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP)—The traveling House Agriculture Committee moves into Iowa today after hearing farmers in Nebraska join others in Minnesota and North and South Dakota urge that present farm price support programs be continued.

Even organized Nebraska livestock feeders, major buyers of price-supported corn, asked that the grain support program be continued, but modified to permit easier access to government surpluses in areas of short supplies.

But the feeders declared they wanted no direct supports for cattle because floors would involve production controls and "regimentation."

Appearing before a brief hearing of the committee here last night, a spokesman for the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Assn. did recommend that the government buy more beef from low grade cows and ship the meat to distressed peoples abroad rather than to dollars.

The committee is making a 1,200 mile tour of seven Midwestern states seeking farmer views on future farm legislation.

President Off On Visit Into Midwest Area

Cornerstone Is Laid By Chief Executive For Small College

DEFIANCE (AP)—This city of 12,000 about busted its seams at noon today as President Eisenhower made a brief stop-over.

It looked like about all of Northwest Ohio showed up to help this more-than-a-little proud city welcome the chief executive at his appearance for a cornerstone-laying ceremony at Defiance College.

On his way westward through the farm regions where the policies of his administration are getting their first major tests, Eisenhower had made no advance plan to deliver a major speech here.

But he did issue a new plea for international understanding. He said education is the means of bringing it about.

The President spoke from a flag-decked platform.

Cheering thousands lined the streets of Defiance as the President rode, standing and waving. Police Chief C. D. Nestleroad estimated a campus crowd of 15,000 and the throng lining the street at 75,000.

SCHOOL BANDS in brilliantly colored uniforms lent a note of gaiety to the scene.

He stopped here to call on his old friend, Kevin McCann, president of the college, but from here on out, his trip is strictly business.

His five-state swing comes at a time when his stock with the farmers is in danger. Some are fretting about administration agricultural policies.

But if the President had any political worries, he didn't show it here as he laid the cornerstone of the building which will become the Anthony Wayne Library of Early American Studies.

Next stop for the President on his trip will be Kansas City, New Orleans and the Mexican border.

Eisenhower is scheduled to make an important farm speech at Kansas City tonight, his first since the Democrats captured a GOP congressional seat in a Wisconsin election fought out on the issue of the President's agricultural policies.

The President's Defiance appearance was the first in Ohio since he entered the White House.

The visit was a request of McCann, author of an Eisenhower biography and a great help to the (Continued on Page Two)

G-E Open House Attracts 550

Commemorating its fifth anniversary in Circleville and General Electric's 75th birthday, the local G-E plant held "open house" to 550 persons Wednesday.

More than 100 members of local civic, professional and service organizations were in attendance, in addition to 450 members of employees' families.

The lobby was decorated with flowers, which included a basket from the Circleville Chamber of Commerce. Guests were greeted by hostesses in the front lobby and were given souvenir ash trays.

Employees, who served as ushers, guided visitors through a 45-minute tour of the plant. Supervisors were stationed at key operations to explain the process and equipment.

Following the tour, refreshments were served in the cafeteria where G-E lamps and appliances were on display.

Bender Needs Burke For Views

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Bender, Ohio Republican, wants to know how Thomas A. Burke, newly appointed senator from Ohio, feels about important national issues.

Yesterday he said Ohio voters have a right to know what Burke, Democratic mayor of Cleveland, thinks about the Taft-Hartley Act, farm price supports and Sen. McCarthy's investigating committee.

2 Congressmen Against Cut In Excise Tax

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Republican and a Democrat on the taxwriting House Ways and Means Committee agreed today that Congress should cancel a $1 billion cut in excise taxes due April 1.

Present laws call for automatic reductions then from peak rates, imposed after the Korean War started, on automobiles, cigarettes, gasoline, sporting goods, liquor, wine and beer.

Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.) said he didn't see how these cuts could be permitted in view of the need for revenue at least to approach a balanced federal budget.

Rep. Hale K. Boggs (D-La.), took a similar stand. Boggs predicted that many Democrats, although frequently opposed to excise or sales taxes, would go along.

President Eisenhower already had urged Congress to cancel the reductions, pending a promised general excise tax revision proposal, but Congress took no action this year.

Simpson said his political pulse taking through Midwestern and Northwestern states over the last five weeks has convinced him tax payers will be relatively pleased with two reductions now set for Jan. 1 and will not be upset by continued high excise rates.

Reductions scheduled January 1 are an average 10 per cent cut in individual income tax rates, and expiration of the excess profits tax on corporations. They would cost an estimated $5 billion annually in revenue.

Oil Chief Urges Price Reductions

CLEVELAND (AP)—The president of Sun Oil Co. urged price reductions today as the best way to end an oversupply of oil products.

Robert G. Dunlop, speaking before a Cleveland Chamber of Commerce group, declared "the best solution to an oversupply situation such as the oil industry now faces occurs when free market forces bring about a gradual and widespread reduction of prices all the way down the line from the service station to the oil fields."

Price reductions, he said, would increase consumption of gasoline and other oil products, make the importation of crude oil less attractive, and improve efficiency.

President in the preparation of his book "Crusade in Europe."

The folks here went all out in their welcome, but they had to look quickly to see the President. The presidential train arrived in Defiance at 11:30 a. m. A motorcade whisked him to the campus and he was scheduled to be on his way again at 12:30 p. m.

Taking part in the ceremony were two of Ohio's political leaders—Democrat Gov. Frank J. Lausche and Republican Sen. John W. Bricker.

Lausche is the man who just balanced the see-saw of power in the Senate by appointing a Democrat, Thomas Burke, mayor of Cleveland to the seat left vacant by the death of Robert A. Taft.

After an hour here, Eisenhower left by train for the Toledo airport, where he was to board his private plane for a flight to Kansas City.

His Kansas City appearance will be before the Future Farmers of America tonight. He is on the program there a few hours after his agriculture secretary, Ezra Taft Benson.

BENSON is under fire by Midwest farmers, some of whom claim he is talking too much and doing too little about drought relief.

Eisenhower, who will be feeling his way in the area trying to determine its strength, is expected to talk about the drought. That problem and other thorny ones of low farm prices, public power and patronage all are much on the mind of farm folk.

The President left Washington at 11:30 p. m. last night.

French Attacking Red Strongholds

DAY RIVER, Indochina, (AP)—French and Vietnamese land, sea and air forces jumped off at dawn today in a full-scale offensive aimed at destroying huge war depots and paralyzing Communist-led divisions threatening the Red River Delta.

Breaking out of their delta bulwark for the first time in a year, the French-led troops crossed the Day River 50 miles southeast of Hanoi, and stabbed through muddy, rain-flooded ricefields and jagged limestone hills toward the big rebel supply bases before Phu Nho Quan and Thanh Hoa.

Indignation Rises As Sick Girl, 7, Found Neglected In Home Here

Officials and private citizens were indignant Thursday in connection with a condition uncovered in a southend home late Wednesday.

Circleville policemen Ludwell Mills and John Lockard were called at about 9 p. m. Wednesday to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Hettinger, 361 Town St., where their 7-year-old daughter lay seriously ill.

The youngster was burned on her face, shoulder and arms several weeks ago when her mother spilled hot grease onto her from a frying pan.

Officials said the youngster was rushed into Berger hospital for treatment with funds supplied by a public welfare agency. The lass was discharged later when the welfare agency said the funds for the case had been exhausted.

UNOFFICIALLY, some hospital attaches reported they had thought the discharge of the lass was premature in relation to the seriousness of her illness.

When Officers Mills and Lockard were called into the Hettinger home late Wednesday by a worried neighbor, they reported the home was in a state of filth and contamination and the youngster was lying in the home, shivering, uncared for.

Unofficial observers reported the child was exceedingly dirty and the bandages were filthy and "turning green with mold."

An ambulance was summoned for the lass and she was rushed into Berger hospital, where she was cleaned and new bandages applied to her injuries.

Mayor Ed Amey, joining in the rise of indignation that such a situation could exist in Circleville, personally guaranteed payment of the youngster's treatment and care. By virtue of his office, Mayor Amey is president of the hospital's board of governors.

The Hettingers reportedly have three other children, living under similar conditions in the home.

Hospital attaches Thursday reported the youngster is in "fair" condition.

Meanwhile, Officer Lockard brought the situation to the attention of Pickaway County Juvenile Judge George D. Young. The juvenile judge Thursday said there will be an investigation into the case and "something will have to be done about the situation."

Second Hupman Trial Booked

CINCINNATI (AP)—U. S. District Judge John H. Druffel ruled yesterday that a second trial for Melvin E. Hupman, 38, of Clarksville, on a perjury charge should be held here. He set a tentative date of Nov. 2 for the trial.

Hupman's first trial, held in Dayton a few weeks ago, ended with the jury unable to agree on a verdict. The charge against Hupman, a former official of the United Electrical Workers Union, was based on statements made in a Taft-Hartley law affidavit.

Marshall Perlin of New York, Hupman's attorney, tried unsuccessfully yesterday to have the retrial held in Dayton and also to have it postponed until January.

White Adds Dogs To Hazard List

A law officer is required to face many hazards in performance of his duties—and dogs are on that list now for Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Carl White.

White said he was delivering a warrant in New Holland several days ago when a dog bit his left leg, tearing out a small chunk of the leg.

The Deputy said he saw the dog as he approached the house, but that it just stood watching him, not even barking. As he passed the dog, however, it nipped him.

"I kicked him loose," the Deputy said, and went on to the porch and knocked. The dog started after me again, then, and I took out my blackjack and chased him around the house.

WHITE CAME back to Circleville then, he said, and had the leg treated in Berger hospital.

"I went back to New Holland that same night," the Deputy said. "The dog didn't bother me then—I was ready for him—but there still wasn't anyone home."

defense secrets have been flowing to the Soviet Union came from an unidentified German scientist quoted by the Chicago Tribune.

The Tribune said the scientist, who fled the East zone of Germany, told U. S. authorities:

"The Russians said that they could get anything they wanted out of Ft. Monmouth."

The Army announced recently, without elaboration, that five civilian employees at Ft. Monmouth had been suspended for security reasons.

McCarthy, whose committee continues closed hearings here today into possible Communist subversion in the center's radar laboratory, said yesterday that five other persons have been suspended in the last two days.

McCarthy, reporting he questioned a scientist friend of executed atom spy Julius Rosenberg and that the scientist admitted taking home 43 secret documents to "study up on his work" in 1946, had this to say concerning theft of radar data:

"We have completely convincing testimony that some of the top-secret missing documents regarding radar and other matters did turn up in the Eastern zone in Berlin."

However, the 43 documents which McCarthy's witness admitted taking home were recovered when Army agents raided the scientist's home that same year.

6 Persons Held In Narcotics Raid

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Federal narcotics agents in a series of raids rounded up 56 persons today in Pittsburgh's hill district.

More than 100 federal agents, police and plainclothesmen took part in the pre-dawn raid. So closely guarded was the operation that most of the raiders, with the exception of federal agents, didn't know of their mission until the last minute. Agents spent over $3,000 for purchases of heroin and marijuana in their undercover work before the raids.

Wilbur Peebles Is Put On Spot When Trellis Mae Fires Posers

By JAL BOYLE

HOMETOWN, U. S. A. (P)—Every married woman today is interested in who is divorcing whom and why, particularly why. Trellis Mae Peebles, America's average housewife, had no intention of ever divorcing her husband, Wilbur, but she did like to let him know she had plenty of reasons if she wanted to. By avidly reading the newspaper she had assembled a box score of 67 different situations in which a wife had won a divorce from her husband for doing something Wilbur, too, had been guilty of at one time or another. Wilbur thought this was gruesome of her, and would have preferred she follow some more pleasant hobby, such as studying poisons or collecting used murder weapons. "Oh, goody, goody, now I'm up to 68," chorled Trellis Mae, ripping an item out of the paper. "It says here a gal in Detroit got a divorce because her husband made her take intelligence tests and called her stupid if she didn't make a grade of 98. You called me stupid once." "Look," said Wilbur. "You admit I was talking in my sleep when I said it, don't you? You can't blame me for what I say when I'm unconscious, can you?" "That's the only time you do anything except grunt." "Well, anyway I never made you take any intelligence tests," remarked Wilbur, then a gleam came into his eyes as he added craftily: "Not that you'd have any trouble batting 100 per cent in any old test I could dream up, honey." "Do you really think so?" asked Trellis Mae, flattered. "Sure thing. Look how easy you guess all the answers on those TV giveaway shows." "Let's try it—just for fun," said his wife, falling into the trap. "Give me five questions. But don't make them too hard." "OK, ready?" "What state has the largest population?" "That's easy, Texas." "Wrong. It's New York. Whose picture is on a $20 bill?" "You haven't brought one home in years. How would I know? It must be a Republican. President McKinley? No, Teddy Roosevelt!" "Wrong. It's Andrew Jackson, a Democrat. He got on by mistake. How do you spell etiquette?" "E-t-i-q-u-e-t-e," said Trellis Mae. "And I know what it is, which is more than some husbands I could name do." "Wrong again. Now, can you identify Beria?" "Of course, silly. It's one of those cute little hats Frenchmen wear." "Wrong, he's an ex-Russian leader now missing. Last question. You can't miss this one. Who said, 'Give me liberty or give me death?'" "Henry Patrick! Henry Patrick!" yelled Trellis Mae. "Well, his friends called him Patrick Henry," said Wilbur, "but I'll give you half on that one—10. That's your score—10 out of 100." "You cheated!" cried Trellis Mae. "A king me all that junk! If anybody really cared. You didn't ask me a single important question." "OK," said Wilbur coolly. "Go ahead and ask me five quesand slack-jawed. "Those are really important questions," said Trellis Mae. "And you scored zero. Another thing, if I did get a divorce from you in this state, do you know how much alimony you'd have to pay?" "No, do you?" "Certainly," said Trellis Mae. "And now just one final question. If there is somebody stupid in this house about things that really matter, who do you think it is?" "No comment," said Wilbur. Sister Of Shah Has Baby Girl SANTA MONICA, Calif. (P)—The sister of Iran's Shah gave birth to a 6½-pound daughter last night, her second child. She is Mrs. Vincent Hillyer, 24.

Weekly Food Review

By Associated Press

If you've been passing up pork because of high prices, take another look this weekend. In many of the nation's foodstores, prices will be much lower than in recent weeks.

Reductions on pork cuts, the result of an increasing autumn rush of hogs to market, will be the outstanding feature at meat counters. However, lamb and beef prices will be lower, too, in a good many stores.

One chain reported it will slash pork chop prices by as much as 20 cents a pound. It also will feature pork roasts and smoked hams.

The New York division of another chain, which plans to feature both pork and lamb for the weekend, came up with some interesting price comparisons. It said lamb rib chops will be selling at its New York stores this weekend for 65 cents a pound against 99 cents a year ago, shoulder chops for 59 against 89, lamb loin chops for 95 against $1.15, loin end pork roast for 49 against 62 and rib end pork roast for 39 against 49 a year ago.

One store official commented that lamb prices have been coming down in the last few months but appear to be about as low now as they will get.

In many markets, prices of sirloin steak, rib roast and other beef cuts will be unchanged from last weekend, but there will be some reductions of two to eight cents a pound. Some stores will feature pot roast and beef liver.

Frying chicken prices generally will be about the same, while eggs will edge up a couple of cents a dozen in some places.

Produce men picked cabbage and spinach as especially good buys this week. Other vegetables prominently mentioned included cauliflower, onions, potatoes, sweet potatoes and peppers—small peppers in particular.

Fruit prices tended higher, but apples of all varieties were named good buys.

3 Jail Escapees Nabbed By Police

Man Shoots Self After Cop Chase

DOVER (AP)—Chased by a police car for an hour, James C. Ferguson, 44, a New Philadelphia auto mechanic, shot and killed himself yesterday in a car with his estranged wife.

Police Capt. Robert Clark said Ferguson had met his wife, Alice, to discuss a divorce suit she filed, then pulled a gun on her and forced her into his automobile. Driving on the wrong side of a Dover street, Ferguson's car attracted attention of Clark, who gave chase. Ferguson shot himself as he was approaching a road block set up by police.

Busy Burglar Finally 'Retired'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The busiest burglar in San Francisco was out of business today.

Police arrested Wallace L. Skaggs, 26, at his hotel room. They said he admitted breaking into 19 homes and stealing about $5,000 worth of furs, clothing, jewelry, radios, typewriters, luggage and electrical appliances in the past six weeks.

Skaggs met his downfall when he was spotted carrying a television set from the home of Thomas McKeon, a retired policeman.

Rehearing Denied

COLUMBUS (AP)—Only Gov. Frank J. Lausche can save Mrs. Dovie Blanche Dean from the electric chair Nov. 6. The state Supreme Court yesterday refused to rehear the case of the woman who poisoned her husband in Clermont County last year.

Firm Settles $80,000 Claim

CLEVELAND (AP)—Prudential Insurance Co. settling a damage suit out of court, awarded $80,000 yesterday to Sandra Wesley, an 11-year-old Wellington girl who was struck by a car driven by a debit collector for the firm.

More Wine Consumption Is Industry Goal

Production Growing Rapidly In Nation, Spokesmen Report

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans are drinking more wine each year—but processors of the grape are redoubling efforts to induce them to step up consumption.

This is National Wine Week and American producers naturally are boasting of the rapid growth of their industry in recent years. Perhaps by coincidence this week also sees the arrival here of representatives of the industry in France and Portugal, with an eye on the growing American market.

The Wine Advisory Board notes today that the American industry has increased its sales from an average of 63 million gallons a year during 1933-1939 to 132 million gallons last year. But wine producers think that's only a drop to what it ought to be.

"This year's per capita United States consumption amounts to only about nine-tenths of a gallon," laments Alfred Fromm, president of the Paul Masson Vineyards in Saratoga, Calif. "In France, per capita consumption is more than 40 gallons a year."

The American vintner naturally thinks the French have the right idea. But Frenchmen are planning stepped-up campaigns this year to increase sales to Americans of various products of the grape.

"We want Americans to learn to step up to a bar and order cognac on the rocks, since that seems to be the way they like to drink," says a newly arrived representative of the French National Assn. of Cognac Producers. He says the grape harvest now under way in the cognac brandy region is excellent this year.

A similar report on the grape crop comes from the French Champagne region where they look for the best wine year since 1928.

Fromm, whose firm also distributes Christian Brothers wines and brandy from California, says that California wine shipments this year should run around 117 million gallons. But he predicts that in five years this will be doubled. Exports of American wine are gaining, he adds.

American tastes are having an effect on French production trends, according to Andre - Pierre le Grande, directeur generale of the Benedictine firm, who arrived in the United States this week to talk to dealers across the nation. Sales to the United States now make up

Firemen's Pole Ordered Removed

NEVADA CITY, Calif. (AP)—The pole firemen use to get from the second floor to their engines is dangerous and wasteful, the City Council has decided.

Council voted to remove the pole from the fire house and seal up the hole because:

Firemen's feet are bruised upon landing.

Firemen bang their elbows as they hurtle through the hole.

Heat escapes through the hole and is wasted.

Besides, the boys get down faster via the stairs.

Pottery Chief Dies At Age 86

EAST LIVERPOOL (AP)—Chester A. Smith, owner of a bus line, potteries and a 4,000-acre farm, died Tuesday at 86 in nearby Chester, W. Va., a village he founded and named after an uncle.

He owned the Valley Motor Transit Co., which runs between Steubenville and Beaver, Pa. His Hillcrest Farm, near Chester, was noted for its apples and prize Hereford cattle. His pottery interests include the Taylor, Smith and Taylor Pottery and the Harker Pottery, both in Chester.

Laborites Win Edge In Norway

OSLO, Norway (AP)—Official results announced last night in Norwegian parliamentary elections gave the governing Labor party a four-seat majority.

The legislature's 150 seats were distributed thus: Labor 77, Conservatives 27, Agrarians 14, Christian Democrats 14, Liberals 15, Communists 3.

The Labor party has been in office the past 18 years.

Georgia Governor Hits Speed Traps

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—Gov. Herman Talmadge has threatened to revoke city charters of Georgia speed trap towns, if other measures fail. He issued this warning after receiving word from the American Automobile Assn. that it got more complaints from drivers about Georgia than any other state.

10 per cent of the export sales of the liquor.

American tourists have spread around the world their own taste for B&B, a combination of benedictine and brandy. Le Grande says his firm was loathe to start making it, but bowed to American demand. Sales are now catching up rapidly with those of the parent product and may soon pass them.

Judge Rules Against Claim Of Immunity

COLUMBUS (AP)—A Franklin County common pleas court judge has ruled witnesses appearing before state tribunals and commissions may not refuse to testify under immunity of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution.

Judge William C. Bryan gave that ruling in refusing to abolish indictments against three Columbus residents who refused to answer questions before the Ohio Un-American Activities Commission last year.

He overruled demurrers filed by Mrs. Anna H. Morgan, Robert E. Lee Terrill and David Jackson. Attorneys for the three questioned legality of the commission in their fight to quash indictments of contempt against the commission returned in May, 1932.

Judge Bryant took the position that the first 10 amendments to the Constitution placed limitations on the federal government and not the state or its agencies.

With the decision, Prosecutor Frank H. Kearns indicated he planned to bring the cases of the three to trial quickly.

Said Bryant: "The first 10 amendments were enacted for the purpose of placing limitations and restrictions upon the federal government and its agencies and are not limitations upon state governments, or its agencies, and hence are not available to the defendants in these cases."

Referring to the Ohio statutes granting immunity to witnesses from subsequent prosecution, Judge Bryant added:

"Obviously, if there can't be a future criminal case based upon

War I Vets Due For Dividend

WASHINGTON (AP)—Special dividends totaling 64 million dollars are scheduled to begin going out in the mails today to 380,000 veterans holding permanent plan World War I government life insurance.

The special payment, announced by the Veterans Administration last night, is in addition to regular 1933 dividends totaling 23 million dollars being paid policy holders after each policy's anniversary date.

The special payment will average $168 and will be limited basically to veterans with permanent plan policies in force last Dec. 31 and issued at least five years earlier.

The VA said the issue is possible because a trend in death and disability cases released some funds set aside for such benefit claims.

BUDGETARY OUTLOOK

SEN. HARRY F. BYRD of Virginia doubts that the administration will succeed in balancing the budget by 1955. Treasury Secretary Humphrey set 1955 as the year the budget would be in balance, in spite of token tax reductions which would lower revenue by several billions.

The President has predicted, however, that the government will be $4 billion in the red at the close of the fiscal year of 1954, which would seem to cast doubt on a balanced budget the following year.

Senator Byrd has consistently advocated reduced spending as the only possible method of balancing the budget. His view has attracted a substantial following in Congress. The present administration has made progress in that direction, but much remains to be accomplished. Promised tax reductions can hardly be postponed because of political considerations.

The present administration is definitely pledged to a reduction in taxes and a balanced budget. But the government cannot balance the budget by paying off old debts and creating new ones. The administration's twin objectives can only be reached by further reduction in expenditures.

CONFUSION CONCEDED

CRITICS POINT OUT that there is confusion in administration circles on Russia's H-bomb and what the United States ought to do about it. Of course there is. No doubt there is confusion in the Kremlin about what ought to be done.

When nations possess the means of condemning millions to death in a few minutes, there is bound to be confusion. American leaders charged with the defense of the nation haven't agreed on what type of defense to emphasize. They are proceeding with development of air power and bombs, but agree that a bomb attack on this country would be tremendously costly.

Some of them see Russia as ready to pull the trigger, while others scoff at such fears and contend America has outdistanced the Soviet Union militarily.

Government leaders could clam up and intensify the secret atmosphere surrounding the bombs. But that would be a head-in-the-sand policy that might prove disastrous.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By R. C. HOILES

Editor's Note: Ray Tucker is on vacation, during which there will be guest columns by several prominent newspaper editors. Today's column is by R. C. Hoiles, president of Freedom Newspapers, Inc., which publishes ten newspapers in California, Colorado, Texas, New Mexico and Ohio.

The fine and appeal from the lower courts in Los Angeles of William and Mary Turner for not sending their three school-age children to public schools and their insisting on having the right to educate their own children as they believe they should be, is bringing up a question, the decision on which means much to the liberty and welfare of the American people. No matter which decision the appellate court makes, it should go to the Supreme Court so we can know just how far the government has gone in establishing a complete monopoly in education.

Those interested in education want to know whether the parents or the government should have the final say as to what children are being taught in tax-supported schools on ethical and political questions. They want to know whether the government is to be the servant or master of the citizens. If the government has the final say as to how the youth is to be educated, it certainly becomes the master or tyrant. As Isabel Paterson, author of "The God of the Machine," says, government schools are tyranny, naked. And as Rose Wilder Lane, author of "Discovery of Freedom," says, they are the primary tyranny.

CONTROL—Even if the state grants the right of parents to send their children to private schools, should the state have the final say under state compulsory attendance laws as to whether these schools qualify? If they do, then the parents have lost control of the education of their children.

Opponents of tax-supported or coercive schools contend that such schools cannot teach successfully the Golden Rule because they violate it. They are convinced that a school based on coercion cannot teach successfully belief in getting what one wants in a voluntary way, as must be done if one is to obey the Golden Rule and the Coveting Commandment.

In order to test whether tax-supported schools violate these moral commands, let believers in them try to answer these questions:

1. Would it be a violation of the Golden Rule for one individual, say John Smith, to set up a school and coerce another individual, say Bob Jones, either to pay a fee for Smith's school or leave town?

2. If it is a violation of the Golden Rule for Smith to coerce Jones to help pay for Smith's school or leave town, wouldn't it be a violation of the Golden Rule for one group, say Group A, to set up a school and coerce another group, say Group B, to either help pay to support Group A's school or leave town?

3. In question 2, Group A could be a majority or it could be a minority. If it is a violation of the Golden Rule for a minority to coerce the majority either to pay a fee or leave town, why isn't it a violation of the Golden Rule for a majority to coerce a minority to either pay a fee or leave town?

MORAL LAW—Those who believe that it is just as important to have education free from any government domination as it is to have a free press, free speech and free religious worship contend that if the above questions cannot be answered without evasion or a contradiction, then coercive schools violate these moral laws. They contend that this is true because one moral principle is always in agreement with every other moral principle. They explain that any practice that violates moral law cannot produce moral results; that men do not pick figs from thistles; that evil produces evil and not good.

Those who believe in these natural, eternal, moral principles are persuaded there is nothing more important than an education which assists in the gaining of more understanding of physical and spiritual natural laws that govern man and the universe.

In order to determine whether I am in error in my belief that government schools violate the Golden Rule, I have repeatedly offered to pay $500 to any superintendent of schools, or board of education member, or preacher holding a pulpit, who lives in any of the ten counties in which Freedom Newspapers publish a paper if they will answer such questions as above asked as they would before a court. I have also made the same offer to any of the 34 members of the National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools.

NO TAKERS—So far none of the above parties will try. I would be glad to give any person $500 if he can persuade any

George E. Sokolsky's These Days

The National Inter-Law School Moot Court Competition is sponsored annually by The Committee on Junior Bar Activities of The Association of the Bar of the City of New York. Offered as a text in this competition is a pamphlet, which may be interesting to young lawyers who, at Moot trials, have an opportunity to try their wits, but which, in my judgment, is a wickedly clever piece of propaganda designed to influence public opinion in favor of those who hide subversion, espionage and corruption by American life by an abuse of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution.

This pamphlet is a model transcript of record of a hypothetical case before the Supreme Court of the United States, namely, the president and trustees of Targe University v. Mary Caveatt, widow of Scholar-leigh Caveatt, who had appeared before a Congressional committee, plead the Fifth Amendment, was fired by the University, climbed a mountain and dropped dead.

Judge Wise of the United States District Court handed down a decision favoring the University, but in the course of that decision, he quotes the Congressional committee's transcript. No name of a Senator or Representative is given and it is therefore impossible to know for sure whether the learned but cagey lawyers who conceived the pamphlet were referring to Senators McCarran, Jenner, or McCarthy or to Representative Velde.

As the pamphlet refers to Communist infiltration into our universities, we must assume that the references are to Senator Jenner, as his committee has been investigating this subject under the brilliant direction of Robert Morris, its counsel.

The Jenner Committee, as well as the others, has followed a procedure with which these Bar Association authors are apparently not familiar, namely, that before a witness is called in open hearings he is given an opportunity to appear in Executive Session. In its report on this subject, the Jenner Committee stated:

"... This testimony was not made public in any case until the persons so identified as Communists were given an opportunity in private session to contravert or deny the evidence. After these private sessions, the educators were then called before the subcommittee also in private session and asked about the details of the evidence, and their refusal to deny or contravert the evidence was followed by open hearings. The subcommittee felt that such a method was the most responsible procedure of exposing those who are Communists. Furthermore, it insured fairness and accuracy both to the witness and the subcommittee, since, according to this standard, the names of those who denied Communist Party membership were not brought into the public record as subversives."

Because of this method, had the mythical professor Scholarleigh Caveatt denied, under oath, Communist affiliation in private,

Standing for Long Periods Can Be a Cause of Varicose Veins

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

PITY the poor salesgirl who must cope with the whims of her customers, the will of her employers, and the knowledge that her job may bring her little more than varicose veins to accompany her paycheck.

A discomfort common to those who have to stand on their feet for many hours, such as salespeople, are severe cramps in the legs. These persons walk the floor night after night because of the pain in the calves of their legs.

Torturous Course

Varicose veins can be the cause for the severe aching. They can be seen in the form of bluish red areas on the skin of the legs and are most visible in a standing position. They are usually very torturous in their course.

The causes for varicose veins are many. A job that keeps one on his feet all day may be one cause. Often women will develop varicose veins following pregnancy. And some persons may even have a hereditary predisposition to them.

Slowed Circulation

Varicose veins slow the circulation to the legs and allow waste products to pile up in the muscles of the feet and calves. This causes extreme tiredness which may progress to severe muscle cramps. The blood in the leg veins has a long uphill climb to the heart. Valves as well as leg muscles help in this climb.

However, when these valves function improperly and cannot keep the blood from falling backwards in the leg veins, the condition known as varicose veins may develop. A test to determine whether varicose veins are the cause for leg discomfort can be performed simply by applying an elastic bandage very tightly. If the pains disappear after the patient wears this type of bandage for a few days, varicose veins are usually blamed for the difficulty the patient is having.

Injections of Help

Most cases of small varicose veins can be cured by simple injections of a type of sclerosing solution, which causes a clotting in the vein.

When the varicosity becomes more severe, the main vein that drains all the varicose veins may have to be tied. This main vein is located in the thigh. It is not a very serious operation and is, in most instances, effective in eliminating varicose veins. With the tying of this vein, many small branches may also have to be cut and tied. Only one case out of every ten is not helped by this type of treatment, and will instead require extensive surgery to cure the varicose veins.

There is no reason for a person to suffer from severe varicose veins when they can be cared for by modern surgical procedures, perhaps prevented by proper exercise, and especially by rest periods for those who must stand a great deal during their work.

SYNOPSIS
Phil Stanley, popular young socialite bachelor, had fallen in love with Nancy Kelly, his attorney's keen-witted, red-haired secretary. He'd taken her about, introduced her to his friends, including Linda Van Vleet, a brunette beauty who'd long ago set her cap for Phil. At home tonight, he found Nancy busily typing extra copies of an important, confidential document which will figure in a law suit pending against the Stanley Construction Company, owned by Phil Stanley's high and mighty kin.

CHAPTER EIGHT
THE next morning, on the streetcar, Nancy looked over her work of the night before. She wanted to make sure she hadn't forgotten any of the precious papers.

There were four carbon copies. She decided she had been too tired and excited to know how many copies she really had made.

When she arrived at the office, Nancy didn't even take time to give more than a glance at the mirror. She flung her hat in the general direction of the shelf above the washstand and went straight to her typewriter.

Luckily she was early. Humphrey Charles, late the afternoon before, had asked her to make five copies of the confidential document wanted by attorneys who were helping him fight the law suit against the Stanley Construction company.

Had he known she had taken the papers from the office, her job might be in jeopardy. Now she regretted that she hadn't stayed later at the office the night before rather than have taken the papers home for copying. In her fatigue and the excitement of finding Moira and Sam Sykes, as well as Dave Armstrong at home, she had rattled off four copies instead of five.

She chided herself for her carelessness in the face of the fact that she was the only one in the family with a job at the time. Thank heaven she was a speedy typist. She had just finished the fifth copy and slipped it into the file with the other four when Humphrey Charles arrived.

He asked for the papers immediately. He glanced through them, found the work to his satisfaction, and again impressed upon Nancy the fact of their confidentiality.

He spoke of his faith in her integrity as an employee.

"Of course anything that concerns your work or this office must not be discussed outside. For that matter it must not be discussed between you and the other employees."

"No, sir—most certainly not." She would have liked to have added that Humphrey Charles needn't worry, that a girl could type pages of any material, confidential or otherwise, and hardly be conscious of the words she was writing. Her fingers rattled so fast

FOLKS OF FAME—GUESS THE NAME

1—A member of a well-known diplomatic family, this man now heads the Central Intelligence agency. He was born in Watertown, N. Y., on April 7, 1893. As a youngster, he lived much of the time with his maternal grandfather, who had been secretary of state in the cabinet of President Benjamin Harrison. In 1914, he received his B.A. from Princeton university. In 1916, he received his M.A. from Princeton, in the same year entering the diplomatic service. After assignments in Austria and Switzerland, he was assigned to the American Commission to Negotiate Peace, going to Paris in 1918. He was assigned to the U. S. State department in 1920; appointed to the post of chief of the Division of Near Eastern Affairs in 1922; a position which he held until 1926. In 1926, he received his LL.B. from George Washington university and resigned from the diplomatic service because he had been financing many of his business expenses from his own income. He was still active in government, however, serving on various commissions. During World War II, he served with the Office of Strategic Services. He has received the Medal for Merit and the Medal of Freedom from this country and has received decorations from Italy and Belgium. Author of several books on international affairs, he has an older brother now serving in one of the highest government posts.

2—Called in his time "the gentleman reporter" and "muckraker," this American newspaperman and author was born in San Francisco in 1866. Spending his younger days around Sacramento, he began his higher education at the University of California, following studies there with studies in Berlin, Heidelberg, Leipzig and at The Sorbonne in Paris. Returning to this country, he began his writing career on newspapers in New York City. During his stay in New York, he began exposes of local corruptions in politics and finance, making enemies of the bosses and winning the friendship of men like Theodore Roosevelt and Jacob Riis. In 1902, he switched to the national magazine field, extending his exposes to the middle west. Between editorship assignments on several magazines, he produced a series of articles entitled "The Shame of the Cities." In 1919, he went to Russia with the Bullitt mission, spending a few years thereafter living in and studying in France and Italy. In 1931, five years before his death on Aug. 9, 1936, he published his autobiography.

Filly Roms To Victory In Tarheel Trot

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (P)—Brevity Hanover, the only filly in the field of eight, romped off with the $12,505 W. N. Reynolds 2-year-old trot in two heats at the fairgrounds track yesterday. The victory was worth $7,190 to owner John H. Holser, Troy, N. Y., cattle breeder. Del Miller was the winning driver.

The $10,320 3-year-old pace went to Knight Star, a bay colt owned by the East Providence, R. I., Gray Brothers, P. G. and Jere. Knight Star won all three heats to earn $6,775 with Frank Safford the driver.

Knight Star won by 24 lengths in a first heat timed in 2:05.4, led virtually throughout the second heat for a two lengths victory in 2:06.1. In the last heat, again raced in 2:06.1, the margin was a length and a half.

Marvel Way, owned by the Hayes Fair Acre Stable, Duquoin, Ill., took down $1,362, finishing second in each of the last two heats, after finishing seventh in the first.

Other payoffs: Daniel Boone Hanover, owned by George H. Alber, Marion, Ohio, $278; and Waycham, owned by Byron D. Kuth, Chesterland, Ohio, $54.

Tighter Racing Controls Coming

CLEVELAND (P)—The chairman of the state racing commission says he is going to tighten up the system of controlling Ohio's tracks.

Zoltan Gombos made the statement after the resignation yesterday of Mrs. Helen B. Rickett, secretary of the association. Mrs. Rickett, with the association nearly 20 years, quit in favor of Attorney Edward Corrigan of Mentor-On-The-Lake.

"We need a man on this job," Gombos said. "I'm asking for more state inspectors at the tracks, and we want Corrigan to train them so that they can chase out the hoodlums and racketeers that may be trying to get into the racing picture here."

Browns Eye Pair Of Quarterbacks

CLEVELAND (P)—Cleveland's Browns, getting ready for their Sunday game at Washington, prepared defenses today for two kinds of quarterbacks—Eddie LeBaron and Jack Scarbath.

Scarbath a rookie up from Maryland, holds the second best passing record in pro football—right behind veteran Otto Graham, the Cleveland pass master who apparently is headed for one of his greatest years. Graham has completed 3 of 76 throws for 930 yards and four touchdowns. He has an average gain of 12.2 yards a toss to Scarbath's 10.9-yard average.

15th Named 'Amen'

YPSILANTI, Mich. (P)—Mrs. Margaret Bow, 43, gave birth to her 15th child Monday. Yesterday she named it "Amen." No, she explained, that didn't mean it would be her last; it just meant that "a large family is a blessing of the Lord."

HOBBS, N. M. (P)—State police nabbed a speeder going 80 miles an hour. He gave his age as 80.

Leading Scorer Said Ineligible

SAN JOSE, Calif. (P)—Fullback Joe Elm, the nation's leading college scorer with 11 touchdowns, has been declared ineligible at San Jose State for the remainder of the football season.

Ulm and three other Spartan gridgers were barred on a technicality in Pacific Coast Conference rules, by which San Jose State abides although not a member.

The four players had attended a junior college for one semester and San Jose State for one quarter. PCC rules require a residence requirement of two semesters or three quarters.

Notre Dame Chills Bowl Game Talk

CHICAGO (P)—The president of Notre Dame says there is "no possibility" the Fighting Irish will lift their ban on post-season football games.

Commenting on an Associated Press report the Irish Athletic Department would recommend acceptance of a possible bid to the Sugar Bowl game, the Rev. T. M. Hesburg, school president, said: "There is really nothing to it. We feel pretty strongly against post-season games. There is no possibility that we will participate in such games."

Toledo Studies 'Threats' To School Games

TOLEDO (P)—The gist of a problem threatening scholastic football here is that students don't turn out for day games and don't behave themselves after night contests.

That's the way the matter was put in a joint statement yesterday by E. L. Bowsher, school superintendent, and Safety Director William Kirk.

They appealed to high school principals to include more Saturday afternoon games in next year's schedules and to do everything possible to curb rowdiness after Friday night contests.

Snake-dancing through streets and stores, snarling traffic, littering streets—these have been some of the students' post-night game doings that have irked local merchants.

Three games originally scheduled for last Friday night were played on Saturday afternoon in an experimental quest for an answer to the problem. Receipts from these three games indicated that scholastic football couldn't pay its own way here on an all-daytime schedule, Bowsher and Kirk said.

Jim Doughan, center on Yale's football team, grew up in the shadows of the Yale Bowl. His home is New Haven, Conn.

2 Other 6-Man Contests Carded

Although Walnut and Williamsport six-man football teams officially will end the 1953 Pickaway County grid season Saturday night in a championship game in Circleville, the three other county league teams will wrap up their own season efforts Friday.

Pickaway's Pirates will invade at Ashville at 4 p. m. Friday to end season play for both squads, and the Jackson Wildcats will travel to Junction City Friday night for an under-the-lights encounter.

A win by Ashville's Broncos over the Pirates of Pickaway could give them third place in this year's league, although a victory by the Pirates could clog up third place with a three-way tie.

To date, both Ashville and Jackson have each scored one win in league play—Ashville over Jackson and Jackson over Pickaway.

BEAUTY AND BRAINS BEAT A STRONG BACK

Mechanization Makes Muscles Obsolete in Industry

By GROVER BRINKMAN
Central Press Correspondent
WASHINGTON—You men who are so complacent about your job—better look to your laurels! Listen to this:

Employment of women in industry has increased more than 50 per cent since 1940. Today it is even above the 1944 war-production peak. About 28 per cent of all employees are women, and the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics estimates that by 1975, the percentage will raise another five points.

Women in their forties are more in demand than any other age bracket. Mothers apparently go back to the modern, easy, high-paying jobs when the children grow up. In 1920, only four per cent of all women over 45 worked outside the home. Today the figure is nine per cent; by 1975 it will be 12 per cent.

WHAT IS THE CAUSE? Mechanization. Mechanization is making the jobs easier, and accordingly the percentage of women doing these jobs is constantly rising. Mechanization has done away with the job of lifting, carrying and moving. So the strong back is no longer an advantage to holding a job.

Continuous flow instead of stop and go is the goal of modern engineers in handling materials. The idea is to save the time and energy that used to be lost in repeatedly picking things up and putting them down needlessly.

"Automation" is the term used for the highest development of this trend. Take an automobile cylinder head in a continuous flow production line, for example. By automation it can be automatically moved and positioned for as many as a dozen successive machine tool operations.

LIFTING, carrying and manual adjustment have been reduced to a minimum. It takes a lot of brains, but little brawn, to make and operate equipment that performs such tasks. So, since less heavy physical labor is required, the jobs are suited to women as well as men!

The conveyor is the new darling of American industry. Around it the whole system of mass production is being rebuilt. Almost everything we eat, wear or use is moved by conveyors today.

Beauties with brains operate this conveyor system as they inspect jars of baby cream cooling in continuous flow process.

This continuous flow principle is found increasingly all the way from the mines, forest and farms, through manufacturing processes, to packaging, warehousing and distribution. An example is the escalator in a department store that moves people continuously forward; instead of in groups via elevators.

TODAY'S adult generation under 24 has, on the average, high school or better education—at least 12 years of schooling. The people over 50 average less than eight. There is a premium on skill and technical know-how—but a glut on the market for strong backs. So, men—watch out!

Ever hear of a moving sidewalk? It'll be here before too long. Extensive experimentation is already under way to handle such jobs as a subway shuttle train now performs between Grand Central Terminal and Times Square, a distance of five blocks, in New York. The prospect is that continuous belts can carry passengers faster, at lower costs and more conveniently.

The other dramatic prospect is the proposed Riverlake Project for the continuous movement of iron ore and coal across the state of Ohio on a 103-mile conveyor.

SYSTEMS similar to the Ohio plan extending over many miles are in operation in South America to carry mineral ores over a terrain too rugged for railroads or even pack mules. The cross-country pipeline is another example of continuous flow principle.

As to the effect of the materials-handling revolution of jobs, industrialists predict that the savings and higher production made possible by the new processes will, as in the past, create more and better jobs.

Look back over history and you will see that employment has always been highest when mechanical progress has been fastest. The amount of work to be done in this country is as limitless as our wants and imagination.

Muscle power costs dollars an hour, compared to a three-cent per hour cost for electrical power hitched to a machine. And while these machines work, women watch and check them—just as efficiently as men.

Could it be that the male sex is headed for the kitchen?

Teachers Back Amendment Two

Circleville School Teachers' Association claimed overwhelming support in this area Thursday for the proposal to set up a state board of education in Ohio. The proposal will appear on the ballot as "Amendment No. 2" in the Nov. 3 elections.

Circleville Superintendent of Schools George Hartman has urged approval of the step, and the city's Parent-Teacher Association has endorsed the proposed change in the state constitution. A spokesman for the teachers' organization called attention to the fact that 44 states have boards of education. He added:

"Approval of the plan appears general in the Circleville area. If there is any serious opposition to it here, we aren't aware of it as yet."

Chief claim by supporters of "Amendment No. 2" is that it would bring the public into closer touch with the state's problems in education. Statewide organizations backing the proposal include:

Ohio PTA, League of Women Voters, Ohio State Medical Association, Jr. Order United American Mechanics, the four regional school boards associations, Ohio Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Ohio Education Association and American Association of University Women.

World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Brownell illustrates once more the government's dilemma in trying to make witnesses before congressional committees answer questions about any Communist connections they might have.

He said yesterday he will back, with changes, a bill being considered by Congress to force such witnesses to answer. Should Congress pass it, the measure would be tested by the first balky witness. That could mean a long court fight.

The dilemma already has a long history. Witnesses wanting to duck questions about communism have taken refuge behind the First and Fifth Amendments to the Constitution. Their main reliance now is on the fifth, not the first.

Several years ago a committee asked 10 Hollywood writers about Communist ties. Some of them said that under the First Amendment, which guarantees freedom of speech, they didn't have to answer.

They interpreted the guarantee of freedom of speech to mean also freedom of political belief. They argued the committee question was about their political belief and that under the First Amendment they didn't have to answer.

Was this excuse valid? Or was it being contemptuous of Congress? Anyone cited by Congress for contempt and then convicted in federal court can be jailed for a year and fined $1,000.

Congress cited them for contempt and they were convicted. The higher courts upheld the conviction, ruling the First Amendment did not protect them from having to answer about Communist party membership.

Later witnesses turned to the Fifth Amendment to escape answering questions about communism with this argument: that anything they said might incriminate them. The fifth says a man can't be compelled to testify against himself.

And they've been getting away with it without being cited for contempt. How come? They could claim that, if they admitted party membership, for instance, they might find themselves eventually prosecuted under the Smith Act.

That act, passed in 1940, makes it a crime to teach conspiracy to overthrow the government. The government has convicted a number of top Communist leaders under the Smith Act.

But isn't there a law which says that what a man tells a congressional committee can't be used against him? There is. Congress passed it in 1957. It still stands. It says:

"No testimony given by a witness before a congressional committee shall be used as evidence in any criminal proceeding against him in court."

Wouldn't it seem from the wording of that law that a witness could no longer claim protection of the Fifth Amendment, as an excuse for not answering, because what he said might incriminate him?

No, there's a gimmick. Under

Lima Lad Kills Neighbor Boy, 9

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — A 14-year-old Lima boy fired a .22-caliber rifle from his bedroom window yesterday and killed his 9-year-old next door neighbor.

Police Chief Kermit A. Westbay said Peter Ledwedge told him he didn't know the rifle was loaded when he shot Roman Schaefer. He was not held.

The Schaefer boy was returning home after crossing the street to buy a bottle of soda when the bullet pierced his heart. He died almost instantly.

African Prince To Wed German

HAMLIN, Germany (AP) — An African prince and a pretty 19-year-old German student have announced their engagement here in a newspaper advertisement.

They are Prince Olasupo, 25, of Lagos, Nigeria, who is studying law in London, and Edelgard Grothe, blonde daughter of a Hamelin municipal employee.

Relatives said last night that the prince heads a tribe of 70,000 Negroes in Nigeria. The couple plan to go there after he completes his studies and they are married in December. They met in England while Edelgard was on a student exchange trip.

present law a man could admit federal crimes to a committee and his words before the committee could never afterwards be used against him in a court.

But there's nothing to prevent the FBI from picking up leads from his testimony, going out and finding information on which the government could then prosecute him without needing his testimony before a committee.

It's for this reason that a witness can use the Fifth Amendment. He can refuse to testify if, in so doing, he might provide leads that would in the end incriminate him.

To sew up this loophole—to make it harder for witnesses to use the Fifth Amendment and easier for committees to get information from them—the Senate last year passed a bill now awaiting House action. It would do this:

Enable a committee to promise a witness he would never be prosecuted in federal court for any crime he admitted before a congressional committee. If, once offered this sweeping immunity, he still tried to use the Fifth Amendment as an excuse for not answering, he could be cited for contempt.

In other words, Congress could then force a witness to testify. But there may be a gimmick here too. For example, suppose a witness admitted he was a Russian spy and had stolen valuable American secrets.

Once granted immunity by the committee, he could never thereafter be prosecuted for that espionage. But if what he said gave the government leads to another crime on which he did not testify, presumably he could be charged with that.

Instead of giving the committees power to grant immunity to witnesses, Brownell says, he wants Congress to let him decide when to grant it.

If such a law were passed, the Supreme Court certainly would have to decide whether or not it was constitutional.

You want DYNAFLOW*
(We mean T.T. Dynaflow!)

THE GREATEST BUICK
IN 50 GREAT YEARS

WORLD'S ONLY V8

No doubt about it—as thousands of prideful owners will tell you. When you press the pedal of a 1953 Buick with Dynaflow, you move. You move with instantly responsive getaway, with great quiet, with truly infinite smoothness. You move in this special and spirited and soul-satisfying manner because you're bossing Twin-Turbine Dynaflow—where two turbines, instead of one, now turn out the magic. We can put pictures before you to show how TT Dynaflow delivers its sensational performance and flowing-oil smoothness. And we will, if you ask. But surely you ought to take the wheel of a 1953 Buick with this big-thrill wonder drive and let your own sensations tell you how wonderful it is. You ought to try it for getaway, for cruising, for suave deceleration—for the sheer and restful comfort it gives you every step of the way. And, very definitely, you ought to try it for the power that goes with it . . . For the highest horsepower and compression ratios. Series for Series, ever placed in a Buick—including the power of the world's newest V8 engine in every SUPER and ROADMASTER. Why not come in and try out this terrific performance team of Buick power and TT Dynaflow? We're ready, willing and eager to show you what you've been missing—and how easy it is, price-wise, to have it. Can you drop in on us for a no-obligation sampling—this week?

CHS Faces Another Rigged Test Friday When Cardinals Invade

Circleville's Red and Black Tiger football team will be faced with another rugged match Friday night when the Cardinals of Columbus St. Charles invade here.

Tigers were put to a real test last Friday when they evaded blushing their record by collecting a thrilling 15-14 victory over Hillsboro's Indians on the Indian field.

This week, while facing at least as tough a team, the CHS'ers will have the benefit of the home crowd and an added benefit of a homecoming game to boost them on.

Circleville to date boasts a clean slate in four starts, with victories over Rosary (31-0), Linden McKinley (7-0), Wilmington (37-7) and Hillsboro.

ST. CHARLES gridders have slipped only once in their four matches to date, dropping a 34-6 decision to the powerful Central Pirates of Columbus.

In its other three matches, the Cardinals have defeated Bexley (6-0), Zanesville Rosencrans (46-7) and last Friday bested Upper Arlington (26-13).

As in last week's tiff against Hillsboro, Circleville will be expected to have a slight weight edge over the St. Charles aggregation on the line and a substantial margin in the backfield.

Fr. Edward Spires, athletic director for the invaders, said the probable starting Cardinal line will average about 165 pounds. The CHS line will average about 175.

The Athletic Director said the St. Charles backfield will feature a 175-pound fullback, two 150-pounders and a 140-pounder.

However, St. Charles will be limping along with two injuries detracting from its former game, the Athletic Director said.

LEE DeMASTRY, regular right end, is out of play with a fractured face bone, while Don Ettore, right halfback, is a doubtful starter because of an injury.

Circleville also will go into Friday's game short-handed on reserve strength, while ailing in one of its substantial tackle posts.

Coach Steve Brudzinski said Tackle Jim Arledge suffered a shoulder separation in practice this
